

HARDING SELECTS ECONOMY MESSAGE FOR WESTERN TRIP

Profit Made By Government
To Form Groundwork
For Speeches.

TO MAKE ECONOMY
CAMPAIGN SLOGAN

Business In Government Is Depended On To Win
Grain Belt Votes.

Washington, June 19. — President Harding intends to drive home with sledge hammer blows to the voters in the grain belt in the next few weeks the fact that the United States government is a paying venture from a business standpoint—and the only first class government in the world that is living within its income.

The $200,000,000 profit made by the government this present fiscal year, over and above all operating expenses will furnish the groundwork and the main theme for numerous speeches the chief executive will make on his western trip, beginning tomorrow.

The surplus, if the Republican political managers have their way, also will be the chief campaign argument of the Republican party next year. They will "point with pride" to the record of economy and careful financing, and they believe that this argument will turn more votes into the Republican column a year hence than any other single factor.

Message of Economy
The Republican managers believe too, that the message of economy in "business in government" will have particularly telling force in the country through which the president is to travel—the grain and stock states where high taxes and low prices combined to create the universal dissatisfaction that was so marked in the last election.

Consequently the achievement will be made much of in succeeding weeks—all the way from Washington to Alaska, and from Alaska to Porto Rico, in the almost innumerable speeches that fall to the lot of a traveling president.

With the portrayal of a "business administration" at Washington will go a promise that taxes are to be reduced just as soon as congress can get around it, perhaps not in the next congress, but certainly the year following.

Rep. Martin B. Madden, Republican Illinois, chairman of the all powerful appropriations committee of the house, already in record in favor of an immediate revision of taxes including income taxes. He is supported by the rank and file of the Republican congressmen, who come up for reelection next year and who believe that a record of economy should be turned into a political capital asset.

BURIED BY ASHES, MAN IS IMPROVING

Fear Expressed That Acid
In Kegelmeyer's Lungs
May Prove Serious.

William Kegelmeyer of Leontia, injured severely Monday when a car load of ashes was dumped on him, rested comfortably Monday night, but fears are expressed that acid from the ashes may have penetrated into his lungs and will cause serious complications.

Kegelmeyer, a foreman at the Cherry Valley furnace, had ordered the removal of the ashes. One of the dump cars failed to operate and Kegelmeyer got under it to fix it. While in that position he directed one of his men to move a lever, but the man touched the wrong one and the entire carload of ashes was piled up on the foreman.

The car was removed and employees worked a long time before they extricated Kegelmeyer. He remained in an unconscious condition for several hours, and is now suffering from shock and bruises.

Lisbon Board Elects 4 School Teachers

At the Lisbon school board meeting Monday night, four teachers were elected to take the place of those resigning from the faculty to accept positions in other towns.

The young women chosen were Bernice Barlow, Mary Barth, Helen Trunk and Mildred Riddle.

The board began figuring ways and means to employ a teacher of music for the schools. They hope to be able to figure out enough from the appropriation to employ a teacher of music before the school term opens in September.

E. Palestine Church Will Erect Building

The Pentecostal church of the Nazareth has asked permission of common pleas court to sell lot 1301 in Chamberlain's addition to East Palestine for $3,000. They also ask that the court grant permission to apply this money on the purchase of lots 148 and 149 in Chamberlain's east addition to East Palestine and to give a note for $5,000 for the erection of a building.

The sheriff, doubting the story, has dropped the case.

MERITS OF WILLITE ROAD MATERIAL TO BE GIVEN COUNCIL

Frank Swaney And Engineer
To Speak At Council Meeting Tonight.

Frank Swaney, representing the Ohio Willite Surfacing Co., and J. H. Ryan, a noted asphalt engineer from Pittsburg, will present the merits of the Willite method of tempering asphalt to city council Tuesday night. The company will seek to have Willite included in the bids for resurfacing of Salem streets.

By the Willite process sheet asphalt is lowered in penetration from 30 to 40, the tensile strength is increased from 56 to 111 pounds and the resistance to load is increased from 136 to 593 pounds, or 76.4 per cent.

The Willite process is tempering asphalt with copper sulphate, increasing the load capacity as vanadium and tungsten temper and toughen steel. It makes a dustless, noiseless, non-skid pavement which will not sand, wave, rut or bleed in hot weather or crack up in winter.

The life of this surface material is claimed to be 20 years of service without roughing up. The Willite company guarantees the pavement by a bonding company and requests that the city remove restrictions on overloading trucks or other motor vehicles.

Instances of truck trailers with gross weight of 55 tons passing over five-inch Willite laid on rolled sand are referred to as some of the tasks on Willite roads.

It is claimed to be the highest class resilient pavement known to the science of road building and eliminates the ancient idea of crushed stone in both theory and practice.

EXPOSITION OPENS WITHOUT LIGHTS

The Sullivan-Cooper shows opened their engagement at the Fifth street grounds Monday night at a disadvantage. Trouble was experienced with the lighting system and the entire grounds were dark for more than an hour. The large crowd patiently waited and inspected the exhibits and shows later in the evening.

The exposition is of the carnival type, but no open gambling is in operation, although there are the usual concessions offering the patrons a chance to win a kewpie doll, aluminum ware, blankets, baskets and other trinkets. The exhibits are free from objectionable features and there is evidence that the Moose, under whose auspices the show is being held, are sincere in their endeavors to keep the exposition clean.

The Indian village, darktown minstrels, ferris wheel, merry-go-round and other attractions form one of the largest shows of its kind ever exhibited here.

Intoxicated Driver Gets Jail Sentence

Dr. May, East Palestine dentist, is in the Beaver Falls (Pa.) jail serving a 15-day sentence, following his arrest there, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. In addition to the sentence he was fined $100. This is said to be his second offense.

NEW LAW IS CAUSING RUSH OF YOUTHFUL BRIDES

After Wednesday, July 18, young ladies who live in Ohio will have to be 21 years old before they can get a marriage license. This was one of the laws that was signed Feb. 18, by Gov. Donahay.

It is understood that the legislature is wishing to have the women of the state, who must be 21 years old before they vote, appreciate the privilege of being that age and made it a law that they must be 21 before they can think of marital relations.

MYSTERY MAN SHOULD BE DEAD SAY DOCTORS

World War Hero, With Hole Through Head, Is Visitor In Salem; Places Paper In One Ear, Withdraws It From The Other; Case Baffles Surgeons.

Doctors say he should be dead, but William J. LaSalle, World War veteran of New York, is very much alive and is a visitor in Salem, where he is the guest of John L. Cooper, of the Sullivan-Cooper shows, who was his buddy in the war overseas.

Surgeons of the Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, and the celebrated Mayo brothers of Rochester, Minn., have examined LaSalle and agree that he should be dead.

Here are a few facts concerning this visitor in Salem: Wearer of the Victoria cross; second highest pensioner in the world; receiving $272.50 every month from the Australian government; wounded on the battlefield of Belgium; rescued by a little Belgian girl; later married the girl when she was nine years old so he could claim his $10,000 life insurance.

LaSalle is stone dead. There is something radically wrong inside his head. There is, in fact, an open passage in his head from ear to ear. The congestion of the shell on Flanders field caused the strange interior disarrangement that has puzzled physicians the world over.

When LaSalle is dead, he is 21 years old—his head will become the property of the Massachusetts General hospital or examination by surgeons.

In the presence of a News reporter this young soldier placed a paper pellet in one ear, closed his nostrils with his fingers, snuffed a few times, and the pellet was withdrawn from the other ear.

The bursting shell destroyed the ear drums. Surgeons know that but they are unable to account for the peculiar disarrangement inside his head. They say, according to all rhyme and reason, he should be dead.

He is able to carry on a conversation with one as readily as if his hearing were not in the least impaired, for he watches the lip movements closely.

Taxpayers In Last Minute Rush Today

The office of the county treasurer was thronged with taxpayers Tuesday. Wednesday will see the grand finale, as the 20th is the last day in which taxes can be paid for the last half of last year. All the clerks had to work at high speed to take care of the crowds. Had it not been for the impression that the tax paying time had been extended the last minute rush would not have had its present velocity.

Tragic Scenes In Villages
Near Raging Furnace
As Many Tarry.

BULLETIN
London, June 19.—Activity of Mount Etna again increased this afternoon, said a dispatch received from Rome at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The lava has reached a railroad a few hundred yards from Linguaglossa.

Rome, June 19.—With 50,000 people homeless from the violent eruption of Mount Etna, and the flow of molten lava continuing, the ancient volcano Mount Vesuvius, which destroyed Pompeii on the Bay of Naples, began, showing increased activity today.

The town of Glara, at the base of Mount Etna, with a population of 17,000, now appears to be doomed unless saved by a miracle.

Fear Earthquake
Deep trenches have been dug around Linguaglossa to divert the river of flowing lava. This town was reported destroyed yesterday, but the report proved untrue.

The outpouring lava from the flaming throat of Mount Etna is advancing at the rate of 25 yards an hour, annihilating vineyards and hamlets in its path.

King Victor Emanuel and the minister of public works in the Mussolini cabinet have left for Sicily to assist in relief work. Troops are on the scene assisting the people to evacuate the danger zone.

Earth rumbblings and explosions accompany the eruption of Etna. Owing to the slow movement of the lava there have been no fatalities (according to information from Messina, at noon) but the chief fears now arise from the possibility of earthquake.

A Raging Furnace
Etna is a raging furnace. As the red-hot lava streams slowly from the vast crater huge volumes of black smoke and cinders belch skyward, obscuring the sun. The noise is like a bombardment of artillery.

Tragic scenes mark the countryside about the burning mountain. After the lava flow, which threatened to overwhelm Linguaglossa, had been diverted to a nearby valley, the people gathered in the public square offering up prayers to the town's patron saint—St. Egidio.

Despite the apparent safety of Linguaglossa the authorities warned the people to depart and most of them did so. The few that remained, reinforced by hundreds of refugees from the nearby countryside, held religious services in the public square amidst clouds of dust and cinders from the volcano.

Where the homeless were put at 50,000 early in the day, some reports this afternoon said the number might rise to 100,000 before night.

Appeals For Help
Constant appeals for help are coming out of the stricken zone. Fascist military police were rushed into the threatened area to help the people escape and to aid them in driving out their live stock.

All the Sicilian roads, deep with dust beneath the hot summer sun, are choked with caravans. Families have become separated. Little children were lost from their mothers. Flocks of horses, cows and goats were led along by stragglers. The old and infirm were carried in carts.

Near the base of the volcano semi-darkness prevailed owing to the clouds of smoke which clouded the sun. Crowds of fleeing men and women wandered from the roads and lost themselves in the fields.

It is impossible to estimate the financial loss, but it will run into millions of dollars.

SECURE SPEAKERS TO OCCUPY PULPIT

During his absence from the city, while attending college at Oberlin the next two months, Rev. H. L. Miller has arranged that Rev. M. J. Grable, former pastor of the First Christian church, will have charge of the morning and evening services there next Sunday.

After next Sunday the evening services will be discontinued at this church during the hot weather and the first Sunday in July Ray F. Carter, executive secretary of the Salem community service, will make the address at the communion service. The following Sunday Rev. P. M. Kendall of the Lisbon church will preach and on the fourth Sunday a state anti-saloon speaker has arranged to speak.

The remaining four Sundays the church board will arrange for communion programs and speakers.

The Farmer Enthroned
SENATOR BROOKHART proclaims, as "nearby realization," a world wide organization of farmers which,
he confidently asserts, will take up and settle the problem of reparations and "smother Wall st., congressmen or president," when its will dictates such a policy.

The Brookhart type of mind delights in fancying itself progressive;
as a matter of fact, it is the reverse of progressive; it is a retardant type of mind. Such visionaries are afflicted with economic squinting and political cataract; they can neither see clearly nor shoot straight.

So the farmers are to rule the world! And what will the united farmers of the world do with it? Senator Brookhart is rather vague about it. Most visionaries indulge in vag-aries. But, under his counsel and direction, the farmers of America may be able, for instance, to settle the prohibition question, liberate us from the thralldom imposed by the rent pirates and the sugar profiteers, raise the national revenue, abolish crime, adjust labor, keep us from temptation
and deliver us from evil!

The Brookharts are responsible for most of the trouble in the world today. A hierarchy of farmers would be as disastrous and fatal as a tyranny of industrialists, and as inefficient so far as any betterment of society is concerned. Neither this nor any other country desires or could endure in peace, comfort or happiness under the dictatorship of any selected or privileged class of citizenship.

The world needs its farmers as it needs its industrialists, its teachers, its scientists, preachers, publicists, bankers and merchants—all these are interdependent. The world needs a proper distribution of wealth and labor, the active and harmonious support of every class and condition of men whose reward for service shall be just and adequate. Ruling agrarianism, or industrialism, or creedism, or anarchism—any of them—must spell the death of constitutional democracy. The farmer, the lawyer, the doctor, the engineer, the plumber, the merchant, each, in his proper and important place in the economy of life and government. When we can no longer say "this is a government of the people, by the people and for the people," we shall have no right to cry out against the destructiveness of Brookhartism or the brutal degradation of Bolshevism.

20 YEARS AGO

(Issue of June 19, 1903.)

Charles Fifer, this city, has purchased a standard runabout Oldsmobile of the latest type, Wednesday Mr.
Fifer and C. S. Carr left Cleveland with the machine and made the trip home in about eight hours, actual running time. It is a four passenger vehicle and is of 4 1/2 horsepower. It is noiseless propelled by a gasoline motor.

Firman Gaunt, West Dry st., left last night for Ankeny, Ia., on a pleasure trip. There he will join Harry Stratton, of East High st., who has been in the west for the last five weeks. Messrs. Gaunt and Stratton are joint owners of a tandem wheel, and the two expect to make the return trip on it.

With the passing of the Rush block, which is being dismantled to make room for the new building for the Citizens Savings Bank & Trust Co., one of the old landmarks of Salem is being destroyed. Dr. R. B. Rush purchased this property about 1859 and coupled it for a home for 40 years and had his office in this building.

Mineral Ridge has two saloons and an effort will be made to oust them by the local option route.

Over 400 people went to Lisbon on a special train this morning, to be present at the biggest day of the county seat's great centennial celebration. It is estimated 10,000 people were in that town. J. H. Clark, Cleveland, made the principal speech of the afternoon and paid tribute to J.
Twining Brooks, and Judges J. A. Ambler and P. A. Laube, Salem. Sen.
Hanna and Gen. McCook, were among the distinguished visitors.

That Body of Hours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in Accordance With the Copyright Act.)

IS IT BUILDING UP OR WEARING DOWN?

Did you ever stop to think that your body is building up the food stuffs into your tissues, into "you," and likewise tearing down your tissues, tearing down "you"?

Yet this is going on all the time.
You take in so much food, drink, and air, and you give out exactly the same amount every day by means of your skin, lungs, intestine, and kidneys.

I mean, that is, if you are a full growing adult in ordinary health. Now if you are not doing that, something is wrong with that body of yours. Perhaps your building up processes are doing more than their share of work and you are gradually putting on more weight than you want, than you can comfortably carry.

Perhaps on the other hand, your tearing down processes are working harder and are tearing down your tissues too fast. In fact the wastes are being manufactured faster than blood can carry them away.

Now either of these conditions are normal.

What are you going to do about it?
Well, the same old common sense you would apply to anything else. You know how Nature goes about everything.

Take the parts of that body of yours over which you have no control. The heart for instance makes a beat, rests, completes the second beat, then rests again. Your lungs work the same way.
A sort of rhythmical action.

What am I trying to prove?
Simply that the reason that you put on too much weight is that you do one thing for too prolonged a period, say too much eating, or too much resting, or too little working.

You see you will have to change your lively rhythm so that the "eat" periods will be less, the "rest" periods
also less, and "work" periods longer.

Now don't misunderstand me, you may work harder, rest less, and eat less, than some thin chap, and yet put on weight. That happens to be your type of body tissue.

Similarly if you are losing weight and energy the same thing applies.
Perhaps you work too hard and too long, and do not play and eat enough.
So take hold of yourself, and work out your own salvation.

SPECULATE ON UPPER ETHER

And That Is About All Modern Scientists Have So Far Been Able to Accomplish.

A meteorologist may be a learned man who studies out a certain part of the causes of sudden changes in the weather and wonders about the other per cent.

The scientific theory is to proceed from particulars to generals, and we haven't yet enough facilities for collecting the particulars.

It is reasonably easy to find out what is going on in the atmosphere at the earth's surface a thousand miles away, but what is going on in the atmosphere ten miles up? There's the rub.

There are no signal stations up there and we haven't yet utilized the airplane to "radio" to the weather bureau the performances of the air currents and other phenomenal developments of the upper ether.

We don't suppose that all the weather comes from Medicine Hat or the arid Southwest. A lot of it, we suspect, comes right down perpendicularly. Why shouldn't it? If hot air rises, cold air descends. Well, then, there is a whole universe of that frigid atmosphere less than five miles away, with no strings tied to it.

We think, some day, we shall have an apparatus for piping or drawing it down in any quantity desired in midsummer and saving ice thereby; but all we seem to know about it now is that it's there.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

INCREASE IN TAX YIELD GIVES U. S. A LARGE SURPLUS

Washington, June 19.—Uncle Sam today took stock and found himself $200,000,000 to the good on this year's business.

Having faced a deficit of $823,000,000 at the beginning of the current fiscal year, June 30, 1922, he figures that when the 12 months' period ends in the next few days, he will be a cool billion dollars better off than he anticipated he would be at that time.

But it was admitted by President Harding and Gen. H. H. Lord, director of the budget, who addressed the meeting of the business organization at which the "trial balance" was struck, that it had not been for unanticipated increases in receipts the government would have ended the year many millions of dollars "in the red" instead of on the right side of the ledger.

Instead of claiming that the government will end this fiscal year in a few days $1,000,000,000 better off than was anticipated 12 months ago solely because of economies and more efficient administration of federal activities, the president and the budget director claimed that there had been an actual reduction in the ordinary business of the government of $256,000,000 from the corresponding expenditures of the last fiscal year.

The rest of the good showing is largely attributable to increased revenues from the tariff and taxes.

You Never Hear a Customer of Ours Complain About the Cost

That's a headline for you—the best we've used in months—think it over.

You've never heard a Bloomberg customer complain about the price he has paid for an article simply because there is nothing to complain about.

We are a value store—a low price for fine merchandise store—a store where the worker and the wealthy both get a square piece of goods for the lowest possible price—and if you'll inquire among your friends and be guided by their reply—we'll be waiting on you one of these days—and that's what we'd like!

BRIDAL LORE OF INTEREST

Each Month Seems to Furnish Some Characteristic Concerning Mrs. Newlywed.

Bachelors who anticipate joining the ranks of the mated may perhaps find the following superstitious bridal lore of interest: A January bride will be a prudent housekeeper and good tempered. A February bride will be an affectionate wife and a tender mother. A March bride will be a frivolous chatterbox, given to quarrelling. An April bride will be inconstant, not intelligent, fairly good looking. A May bride will be handsome, amiable, of a happy disposition. A June bride will be impetuous and generous. A July bride will be pretty and smart, but somewhat quick tempered. An August bride will be both amiable and practical. A September bride will be discreet and much liked. An October bride will be pretty, coquettish, loving, but jealous. A November bride will be liberal, kind, but wild of disposition. A December bride will be good looking, fond of novelty, entertainment, but extravagant.

Ingenious Coal Transportation.

An eastern coal company, in opening up three new mines, situated close together, was confronted with the problem of transporting the output to a river, four and one-fourth miles away, with steep and rugged hills intervening. A railroad around the hills or through them appeared to be too expensive in first cost and in operation, so it was decided to bore a small tunnel through the hills and convey the coal on a series of belts. The distance of four and one-fourth miles, in which there is rise of 300 feet, will be made with 20 conveyers in series, each delivering the coal to the one ahead. At the leading end, the belt will be five feet wide for receiving the coal direct from the mine cars as they are hoisted up the shaft, and will carry the coal 1,500 feet to the next conveyor, which will be four feet wide. The unloading belt at the river will be four feet wide, and will deliver to four or six other belts, which discharge the coal through chutes into barges.

Strange Experience.

One day when I hitched our huge dog to my sled a hunter fired his gun in a neighboring cornfield. The dog was frightened by the report of the gun and started off at an incredible speed. It was too late for me to get off, and I was seated on the sled as it careened dangerously around corners and threatened to upset. I shouted, but he only increased his speed. The sled neared an old wagon at an alarming pace, and the dog jumped over the shafts. My heart was in my throat when the sled met the shafts with a sickening crash! I was conscious of a delightful feeling and came to on top of a soft straw pile on which I had landed.—Chicago Journal.

Could Make What He Needed.

A recent writer on John Burroughs claims that his chief pride was not in his writing, but in the fact that he could make almost everything he needed with his own hands. From Edwin Wildman's sketch of Burroughs in his book, "Famous Leaders of Character," we learn that the great naturalist could fashion ax handles, candles, toys, ink-wells, slate pencils, even trout lines, and that when he set to building his own study at Riverby he was able to make not only the shingles, window frames and nails, but even the furniture.

Her Version of Thunder.

Rosie's mother had been weeks at the spring house cleaning. Papering had been done, woodwork varnished, etc. Carpets and rugs had been off the floor for some time and the noise of furniture being pushed over bare floors had become familiar.

When the first thunder was heard Rosie said: "Mother, God is cleaning house. I hear him rolling the table over the floor."

Use of Rays by Flowers.

Do flowers use rays not visible to the human eye to attract insects to them? Certain insects can spot ultraviolet light that cannot be seen by man, and some blossoms, in addition to their ordinary brilliant hues, vary in the kind of short light rays that they emit.

Prof. F. K. Richtmyer of Cornell university told the Optical Society of America, meeting at the bureau of standards in Washington recently, that these invisible rays may guide pollen-bearing insects to the flowers in their search for honey. Giving signals in rays shorter than the deepest violet that we can see brings the flowers the pollen that is necessary to it in producing seed. Experiments made by Professor Richtmyer on Colorado flowers show that flowers apparently differ in their reflection of ultraviolet as much as in their visible colors.

Unhooking the Hookworm.

Pathologists in the United States army service in Manila say that almost nine out of ten persons in the Philippines have hookworm infection. The cases are not serious, but they lower the efficiency of the Filipino worker and likewise reduce the power of resistance against malaria, tuberculosis and other ailments. The army scientists are using carbon tetrachloride as a specific against the parasite. This is powerful stuff, but, if chemically pure, seems to be safe. The doctors tried it out by giving four times the usual dose to prisoners under the death penalty. They got so sick and hoarse that the only way to get rid of them was to hang them. It is a big job to unhook the hookworm, but science is going to do it. Give it time and practice.—Los Angeles Times.

Mongrel Dog's Devotion.

The devotion of dogs was illustrated at a London hospital the other day. A little mongrel, coming from out a side street, placed its paws on the hospital railings, and by whining and barking, attracted a large crowd. All efforts to make it go away were without success. After several minutes a young nurse appeared and gazed at the distressed creature. Then a smile spread over her features, and gently picking up the dog, she took it into the hospital. It then turned out that the dog's master had been admitted into the hospital and his devoted pet had followed him.

Discouraging Trap Stealing.

A Basque sheep herder convicted of trap stealing in Lassen county, California, recently was fined $100 and sentenced to jail for six months. The case was brought to trial and settled within four weeks. The field operations in predatory animal work conducted by the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture have been seriously interfered with by the stealing of traps, and it is believed that as a result of convictions and heavy sentences the nuisance will be lessened.

Thousands of workers employed in the iron industry in Germany are now out of employment, due to the fact that the industry has always depended upon Alsace-Lorraine for its raw product.

Clark, who saw service in the World war in the famous Thirty-first division, has been appointed assistant director of the United States Veterans' bureau in charge of the rehabilitation division. Heat Wave Claims First Ohio Victim

Cleveland, June 19.—With Stanley P. Smith, 77, of Detroit, dead as a result of the heat wave, no promise of lower temperature was held out in Cleveland today.

Ridding County of Prairie Dogs.

A rodent drive in Hat creek community, Niobrara county, Wyoming, recently resulted in about half the co-operators ridding their land of every prairie dog, while each of the others had, at the time of reporting, but four or five live rodents left. Not 100 live prairie dogs, it is estimated, are left on this area of about 25,000 acres, which was literally alive with them six months ago. The work was started in April on a strip of land thirteen miles long and three miles wide, with twenty-two ranchers co-operating. Practically every man in the district signed up to do his share of the poisoning. The county appropriated money to be used in purchasing poison for the state and nonresident lands, the biological survey furnished poison for the federal land, and labor was donated by interested residents.—Department of Agriculture Bulletin.

Landed Heavy Sprat Catch.

One of the largest harvests of sprats ever recorded was caught by Deal fishermen lately, and is estimated to number 2,500,000 fish. Owing to the recent heavy gales the sprats became massed in abnormal quantities, and the fishermen had great difficulty in landing their catches, so weighted and choked were the nets. Many of the boats reached shore almost submerged. Thousands of hungry seagulls swept down on the floating nets and devoured many of the fish, despite the efforts of the fishermen to drive them away. The poor of the district benefited by the generosity of the Deal men.—London Mail.

CLUB CONSIDERS CAMP FOR SCOUTS

Rotarians Take No Action On Proposal To Buy Camp Site.

Charles H. Cobourn was appointed at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Salem Rotary club to act temporarily in the absence of Rev. J. P. Harman as chairman of the committee to make further investigation as to the possibility of purchasing land for a permanent reservation for the Boy and girl scouts of Salem.

The Rotarians have inspected several probable camp sites and want to be certain that they can secure the best ground available for the purpose.

D. E. Mather, chairman of the membership committee of the Salem Chamber of Commerce, told the Rotarians of the need for more boosters for that organization.

Next week's luncheon will be addressed by C. M. Rohrbach, principal of Salem High school, who will report on the proceedings at the Rotary International convention which he is now attending as delegate at St. Louis.

LISBON-LIVERPOOL PAVING IS STARTED

Lisbon, June 19.—The first bricks in the improvement of a stretch of the Lincoln highway between here and Lisbon was being laid and rolled today.

A huge steam roller arrived at the Lisbon end yesterday and today rolled the bricks on a stretch of approximately two-thirds of a mile. Completion of this particular section will take two weeks, it was asserted, and will throw the dangerous Black hill detour back into comparative disuse.

Traffic on the highway, until the rest of the improvement is completed, will follow the new stretch of brick road to the intersection of the old East Liverpool rd., nearly all of which has been dragged by the county engineering department and is in satisfactory condition for travel. A short stretch remains to be conditioned, nearest the main highway.

Traffic from East Liverpool will continue to use the "roller coaster" detour until the entire improvement is finished, it is understood, but traffic from Lisbon headed in this direction will no longer need to use the Black hill detour, which is considerably longer than the run will be over the old East Liverpool rd.

Barberton, O., June 19 — Because his mother forbade him to go swimming on his ninth birthday, Russell Repp, fatally shot himself in the head with a small rifle Monday evening. His mother, Mrs. Dennis Repp, heard the shot while she worked in the kitchen, but thought it was a firecracker.

Later she discovered the lad's body on the bed with a bullet hole in the center of his forehead. He was a high school student.

County Treasurer W. R. Phillips announces that there will be no extension in the time of paying tax and that June 20 will positively be the last date that payment will be accepted. Quite a few people have the impression that they will have a month's grace, as they did in December, but such is not the case. Closing the books on time enables the treasurer to adjust accounts and distribute the funds to the different districts that they may have the use of the money as soon as possible. 142r

Nearly all the Revolutionary war claims are adjudicated. Shortly after the beginning of the end of these cases the court wound up what were known as the French spoliation claims, which were the result of the trouble this country had with France in the last part of the eighteenth century. Indian claims and Civil war claims kept the court busy for some score of years, and now it is plunging into matters of litigation growing out of the World war.

Claims against the government are of all kinds, and some of them have their humor, although, perhaps, they may be serious enough to the claimants. Here is a case picked from the records and which seemingly may have its human interest as showing the nature of some of the claims made upon the government and the reasons therefor.

Case of the Navy Pay Clerk.

This claim was for a paymaster's clerk in the United States navy. The committee on claims of the house of representatives reported favorably on a bill which had for its aim the reimbursement of the clerk for the loss of clothing and toilet articles destroyed by fire when the old Windsor hotel at Yokohama burned down in the year 1886. The petitioner in this case, it is understood, finally got his money.

Possibly the particular interest to the laity in this case comes from the insight it gives into the onetime war-robe requirements of a civilian clerk sailing one of Uncle Sam's ships in the old days. The clerk was specific in his statement of his losses and he proved everything that he claimed, but it was in the itemized list of things lost in which the human interest centered.

Cases of like kind can be found in the records of the court of claims and in those of the claims committees of the two houses of congress to this day.
The clerk had in his trunk, which was burned, $28 worth of neckties.
In the matter of neckties he gave only the value, leaving out the number, but the members of the committee who passed on the problem did not consider the amount expended on neckgear as at all extravagant. The paymaster's clerk lost seven pairs of shoes at $7.17
a pair. Shoes of that kind today probably would cost double the money.

This paymaster's clerk's studs and one collar button were valued at $12.
his three scarf pins at $17 and his two "scarf slides" at a value of $25. His sleeve buttons—one pair of them—were put down at a valuation of $35.
his tooth powder was worth $4 and his visiting cards were worth $6.

Why He Was in the Hotel.

It happened that this pay clerk was stopping at the Windsor hotel because there was no room for him on the flagship until another pay clerk should vacate his quarters. This forced the petitioner to take up his residence on shore, thus, it was held, making the government responsible for his losses.
That he was expecting shore duty as well as sea duty is shown by the fact that he had two walking sticks with him, the sticks making food for the flames and thereby adding $6.50 to the bill that Uncle Sam was asked to foot.
The unfortunate pay clerk also lost one bottle of cologne. The kind was not specified, but the price was $3.

The kindly committee on claims was forgiving enough to overlook without comment the fact that the pay clerk in 1886 smoked cigarettes, which were not consumed in that day to an extent that made large consumption of them a thing not to be noticed. Just what kind of cigarettes this civilian sailor was in the habit of smoking to the easing of his nerves does not appear in the record, but that they must have been a rare and costly oriental production was shown by the fact that the government was asked to pay $16 for the four boxes of them which were destroyed.

With the cigarettes the devouring element ate up ten dollars' worth of note paper, 22 suits of underclothing, five dozen shirts, ten dozen collars, ten nightshirts, six toothbrushes, three pairs of suspenders, eight dozen handkerchiefs, a dressing case, ten pounds of tobacco, a portfolio, and some dozens of other things which, of course, were absolutely necessary for the fitting out of a pay clerk's sea chest.

CUBS HAVE FINE DIAMOND RECORD

Salem has a team of young baseball players, known as the Salem Cubs, that has been making a name for itself in the three years it has been together. In that time the boys have won 44 games and lost 8. They have piled up large scores, such as the 31-9 victory over the West Ends last Sunday.

Among the players are George Mc-Cave pitcher, and winner of 28 of the 44 games; John Volpe, Fred Schuler,
Arthur Borton, Frank Coran, Paul
Forney, Harold Peiley, Pete Sartick, Albert Sartick and Earl Little.

Last year's record showed nine victories and three defeats as follows:
Cubs 11, Lisbon 7; Cubs 2, Lisbon 3;
Cubs 8, Damascus 9; Cubs 16, Sebring
15; Cubs 13, High school 0; Cubs 7, Damascus 6; Cubs 9, Juniors 2; Cubs
9, West End 10; Cubs 27 Simonds 1;
Cubs 15, West End 4; Cubs 24, Fifth Street 3.

This year the Cubs have defeated
the Triple S 6-1, Sebring 10-7, and the West Ends 31-9.

SOME HARD FACTS ABOUT SOFT MONEY

By JOHN OAKWOOD

When a farmer takes his product to market and sells it for, say, a dollar a bushel, he is dependent upon the honesty of two measures—the dollar and the bushel.

The other day a crossroads storekeeper got sent to jail for manipulating a trick bushel basket with a false bottom that would slide up and down in a way that was grand, gloomy and mysterious. When using it to measure stuff he bought from a farmer, he'd secretly shove the bottom down until it held at least a bushel and a quarter, but he would only credit him with a bushel. The buying power of the farmer's product was thereby depreciated by about twenty per cent.

Finally the farmers thereabouts got wise to the fact that the only way they could get what was coming to them was to enforce a reliable standard of measurement. So they put a good stiff jail penalty on using a fake measure, laid for that storekeeper with the trick basket and sent him to prison.

Politicians in Europe have been manipulating the other measure—the money measure—in much the same way. Some of them in America want to tamper likewise with the dollar.
Here is about the way it would work out. Suppose, when the farmer brought his product to market, the basket measure was honest enough and he got a dollar bill for each bushel. He'd take his dollars home and save them. Perhaps he planned to buy some land next his own for a thousand dollars, and figured that in a year or so he could make it.

But meanwhile the politicians start to manipulate the base of the currency. They would change it from the gold standard to a fiat money plan
—from a gold guarantee to the mere say-so of the government that a piece of paper was worth a dollar. The farmer wouldn't be watching the money-politicians. He would be too busy raising things. At the end of the year he has his thousand dollars.
He takes them to the landowner and says, "I'll buy your land now—here's a thousand dollars."

But the landowner would say, "That is paper money—my land is worth one thousand dollars gold—the government has printed so much paper money folks haven't much confidence in it. But I am willing to take a chance if you will give me a dollar and a quarter in paper money for each gold dollar's value of my land—in other words, I'll give you my land for $1,250 dollars paper."

Soft money would be only another way for the money-politicians to hand the farmer the same dirty deal as the basket manipulator. In the first case the farmer unknowingly gave a bushel and a quarter of his product, and in the second case he would have to give a dollar and a quarter of his money, for a dollar's value in return.

In Germany they have carried the manipulation of the mark so far—well, it seems hardly believable, but if they did the same thing to the dollar, it would take over ten million in paper money to buy that land. The primary producer can raise his prices, but not fast enough to equalize this drop in the gold value of unsound money. That is where the catch comes in.

An English authority has estimated that the war has cost the countries involved no less than 12,500,000 potential lives; in other words, the number of births has been smaller, by this number, than it would have been if the war had not occurred.

GREAT LIBRARY FOR AMERICA

Famous "Reader's" Collection, at Rheims Before the War, Has Been Sent to New York.

The great Reader's library, one of the finest in France, which has been shipped to the United States, is a memorable souvenir of the war-scarred city of Rheims, where it was collected and treasured for many years. The 6,000 volumes and 2,000 original drawings of the Eighteenth century were removed from Rheims immediately before the German attack upon that city and were conveyed to Paris to save them from theft or wanton destruction. From Paris they have since been sent to New York.

This library comprises, among other beautiful things, the complete set of designs intended to illustrate the edition of Boccaccio of the Eighteenth century and sold by Baron James de Rothschild to M. Roederer in 1882; the hundred designs intended to illustrate the edition of Ovid of Abbe Baunier;
the 276 designs of Ondry, for La Fontaine, the 136 illustrations of Fragonard, for the Orlando Furioso, and complete sets of engravings of Boucher, Moreau, Cochin, Eisen, Gravelot, Marillier, Huet and Debacourt.

The bindings of these beautiful volumes are as rare as they are magnificent. Those of the fables of La Fontaine are in citron morocco, before the war valued at $10,000.—New York

KRISHNA'S DANCE IS RECORD

Performance Credited to Indian "God of Love" Hardly Seems Likely to Be Equaled.

The 1923 epidemic of the marathon dance in the United States reminds the deliver into ancient lore of the duration of Krishna's dance with the gopis. Krishna is the Indian Christ, the "Lord of Love," the "Seed and Flower of the Universe." He came to earth in human form 5,000 years ago, and grew up as a cow herder.

All the gopis adored him. The gopis were milkmaids, and Krishna's dance with the milkmaids in the forest of Brindaban ranks as the greatest accomplishment in his incarnation.

According to the popular legend there were 1,000 gopis, and each had her separate Krishna dancing with her, the god multiplying his personality among them so perfectly that each milkmaid was conscious only of the joyous fact that she herself had for her partner the Lord of Love.

One reads that birds and bees and flowers whirled around the heads of the dancers, and that passionate night forgot to draw its curtain to let day in, but lengthened into eons, making a non-stop dance record for all time.

Look for Much From Canal.

On May 5 the new ship canal between the Mississippi river and Lake Pontchartrain at New Orleans was formally dedicated, though it had been in use for several weeks before that.
The new canal makes it possible to build a great modern port with an efficient system of warehousing for the deposit and exchange of goods and plenty of room for factories close to the docks from which their products will be shipped. It also enables ships to make their way into New Orleans from the Gulf of Mexico or out from the Mississippi to the sea without passing through the tortuous and shifting channel of the lower river. The commercial interests of New Orleans believe that the canal will add greatly to the activity and wealth of the city.—Youth's Companion.

Greenhouse a Life Saver.

Who would think of a greenhouse as a life-saving station?
"That's just what they are," Dr. J.
G. Rorse, assistant secretary of the state board of health, said. "They are regular life savers. All through the winter they provide us with lettuce and other greenstuffs for our table. There isn't the slightest question but that the greatest imaginable good to the public health comes from greenhouses."

"Supplying greenstuffs for the table makes more business for them than supplying flowers for our coffin, and the result all around makes for greater happiness."—Indianapolis News.

Christmas Trees as a Crop.

A forester in New Jersey proposes to set out 40 acres of otherwise underutilized land to Christmas trees. He will plant about five thousand trees to the acre, at an estimated cost of $10, and believes that in six or seven years every tree that is harvested will be worth thirty cents. The estimated increase from $10 to $1,500 may be too great, but there is no doubt that in a thickly settled region Christmas and nursery trees can be made a profitable crop.—Youth's Companion.

First Suspension Bridge in 1808.
Philadelphia, now engaged in building the largest suspension bridge in the United States, built the first suspension bridge in the world.

The suspension bridge is an invention of a Pennsylvanian. A man named James Finlay first constructed this type of bridge at the Falls of the Schuylkill in 1808-09. Finlay stiffened the roadway by the framing of the floor and by a heavy side railing and cross braces, each mounted on a truss.

Autos Cause Of 67 Per Cent Of All Accidents

Fourteen thousand lives were lost in automobile accidents in the United States in 1922, an increase of 200 over 1921. The remarkable growth of automobile accidents has been par-alleled only by the growth of the automobile itself.

An analysis of the statistics of accidents caused by automobile shows that they totalled 67 per cent of all the fatal accidents during the year.

Some very definite conclusions may be drawn from the statistics compiled by the states of Massachusetts and Wisconsin. The analysis of 501 fatal and 1,000 non-fatal accidents occur-ing in Massachusetts shows the following causes:

Motorists at fault, 1,173; pedestrian at fault, 255; cyclist at fault, 42;
others at fault, 73.

In both fatal and non-fatal accidents the leading cause of accident was given as "operating too fast." Speed caused 158 of the fatal accidents. "In-attention" was given as the second cause.

Record of Wisconsin shows about the same ratio, with the percentage chargeable to recklessness a little greater.

Formerly the railroads were responsible for the greater number of accidents, but now the ratio is two to one in their favor.

Cargo Carrying Vehicle Sought For Use In War

Washington, June 19—Ordinance experts and automotive engineers will meet at Spring Lake, N. J., on Wednesday, it was announced today by the ordinance department of the army, for the purpose of endeavoring to evolve a "cross country, cargo carrying vehicle of a single type" which will be suitable for use by all branches of the army in war time.

Need for such a vehicle, which could be used beyond the zone of operation of ordinary trucks, was evidenced during the World war.

A hybrid carrier, in the nature of time tank and a caterpillar truck is in contemplation. Such a contrivance, it is held, would be able to make good time where conditions permit and at the same time could negotiate rough country.

It is hoped to stimulate interest of manufacturers with the commercial possibilities of such vehicles.

Many famous engineers and technicians, connected with nationally known automobile and auto accessory concerns, will be present at the Spring Lake conference.

WILDE LOSES HIS TITLE TO VILLA

New York, June 19.—A comeback was punctured. Age was beaten by youth, Jimmie Wilde, 31 years old, lost the flyweight championship of the world to a little dusky skinned boxer named Pancho Villa.

While 40,000 people who paid $100-000 looked on, Wilde was battered into insensibility after one minute and forty-six seconds of fighting in the seventh round of a scheduled 15-round bout at the Polo grounds last night.

The end was not unexpected. From the second round until the finish it had been merely a question of time when Wilde would have to relinquish the title that he had held for so long.

A little man from the far off Philippines had come to this country and met another and had stripped Wilde of the championship that had been associated with him for so long that the world had come to recognize Wilde's name and the flyweight championship as synonymous.

While it lasted it was a battle royal.
From the outset Wilde fought a losing fight but could not offset Villa's speed. He could not discount Villa's volley of punches.

MATERIALS FOR OHIO HIGHWAYS

Bureau of Public Roads Makes Its Position Clear.

WALLACE ENLIGHTENS PEOPLE

Workers Granted Greater Latitude by Supreme Court Ruling in Settling Up Grounds for Action in Personal Injury Cases—Life Underwriters Condemn Certain Textbooks—State Affairs.

Columbus, June 19.—Rumors to the effect that the federal agricultural department intends to proscriber all highway materials except cement and brick have been set at rest by Secretary Wallace, who in a memorandum mailed to A. P. Sandles, a leading official in the Ohio Macadam association, makes the department's position clear on the subject of materials. Secretary Wallace says:

"The attention of the bureau of public roads has been called to a recent newspaper statement that the bureau will approve the use of federal aid funds for cement concrete or brick highway construction only. No general ruling of this character has been made in Ohio or any other state. In Ohio more than 40 per cent of the federal aid mileage now in process of construction is for other types than brick or concrete, and projects for these other, and usually cheaper types, are continuing to be approved.

"On many Ohio roads the traffic is now so heavy as to require such durable types of surfacing as brick, cement concrete or bituminous concrete. It is only on such roads, after a careful study in each case of the traffic, soil conditions and the probable maintenance costs, that surfacing of this class has been required. In other instances the bureau has approved the selection of bituminous macadam where considered sufficient for the traffic, to the exclusion of more expensive types. Ordinary macadam and bituminous macadam types have been approved and are now being built as federal aid projects in the state.

"It should be emphasized that the federal aid projects are limited to the main traffic highways of the state and that even on these, as noted above, 40 per cent of the mileage is of other and cheaper types of pavement than brick and cement concrete."

Textbooks in use in Ohio public schools, those devoted to basic mathematics and which ignore the insurance business, were condemned by the Columbus Association of Life Underwriters. Resolutions adopted called for a committee to probe this omission, to interview the school officials and the publishers, to report the answers of these bodies and to recommend the best way in which the omission might be remedied.

The resolution further recited that in 1922 there were written by old time companies 1,002,109 policies in Ohio alone, making the number in force in the state more than 5,250,238. That the policies written in Ohio in that time were for $566,436,321, bringing the total amount now in force in the state to $3,101,625,301. To this, the resolution said, must be added an estimate of $55,000,000 in fraternal and assessment company protection taken out during the year. The resolution styled insurance as the business with the largest number of single investors of any in the United States.

"It is not that we want the insurance business boosted in the textbooks as a business," officials of the association said. "It is well-known fact among these who investigate that most of the boys and girls leaving our grade and high schools have a reasonable knowledge of the basic rules of banking, manufacture, commerce, barter and trade. They readily know what is meant by dividends, margins, interest, lapsed payments, percentage of turnover and other business terms. But speak of premiums, straight life or endowment policies, paid-up or contingent policies, and other terms of insurance, and they are utterly bewildered. They know what insurance is, its purpose and its aims, but that is all."

Ohio workmen scored in the state supreme court when four judges handed down a decision granting tollers greater latitude in settling up grounds of action in personal injury cases. The four-to-three decision reversed the ruling of the court several years ago in the famous Patten-Aluminum Castings suit, which has been held as a criterion in many "lawful requirement" suits decided thereafter. It gives a new definition of a lawful requirement, thereby upholding the contention of counsel for injured workmen that employers are required to safeguard employees' conditions and surroundings to a greater extent than has been the rule in the past.

The new rule is laid down in the suit of the Automatic Sprinkler company of Youngstown, against Hannah Fender, who had brought suit in the common pleas court for damages as result of an injury sustained by her thumb in the course of her employment as operator of a punch press.

Common pleas court directed a verdict for the company on the ground there was no evidence of a violation of a lawful requirement.

The court of appeals reversed this decision, holding that there was evidence that the punch press was a dangerous machine and that the question should have been given to the jury for decision.

The company carried the case to supreme court which sustained the appeal court's judgment. The case will go back to common pleas court for rehearing.

Chief Justice Marshall and Associate Justices Wanamaker, Allen and Day concurred in the decision. The opinion was written by Judge Florence Allen. Judges Robinson, Jones and Matthias dissented.

Columbus Academy of Medicine voted unanimously to "deplore and disapprove" action of Governor Donahey in permitting a chiropractor, who had been jailed at Portsmouth for noncompliance with state medical laws, to treat a girl patient while he was still under sentence. Resolutions adopted by the academy brand the governor's act as one having a tendency to increase lack of respect for law. They also condemn the methods used "to play upon the sympathies" of the governor in the Portsmouth case.

The academy recently called on the governor and Attorney General Crabbe to explain their action in sanctioning the treatment of the child by the imprisoned Portsmouth chiropractor. Both Donahey and Crabbe, in letters to Dr. J. A. Beer, secretary of the academy, explained their actions. Donahey's letter explained that a Portsmouth father had pleaded with him to make it possible for the imprisoned chiropractor to treat his child, claiming that the girl had been helped by the chiropractor after physicians had failed to benefit her. After conferring with Crabbe, Donahey's letter states, the governor decided to call the sheriff at Portsmouth and tell him that if he (Donahey), were the sheriff, he would not interfere with the girl receiving treatments.

Crabbe said in his letter he had informed the sheriff at Portsmouth that it was not his intention to interfere with the governor's request in the case, although Crabbe did not state that he had openly approved the governor's action.

According to C. J. West, statistician of the state-federal crop reporting section, acreage sown to oats this spring in Ohio is estimated at 8 per cent more than last year's acreage. Oats are very late and the indications are, on the assumption of reasonably favorable weather from now on, for about three-fourths of a crop. The forecast of wheat based on June 1 condition shows a slight increase over the May forecast, with indication for an increase of around 1,000,000 bushels. United States forecast shows a decrease of something like 5,000,000 bushels during the month, with an estimated winter wheat forecast of 580,541,000 bushels.

Most of the oats acreage increase is in sections of heavy winter killing of wheat. The condition of oats in Western and Central Ohio is lower than in Northern Ohio, where there is a better growth of the plants. In most fields the stand of oats is good.

The wheat fields of Northern, Northeastern and Southern parts of Ohio show the best condition. The plant seems to be healthy in all parts of the state, with the low condition in Western and Central Ohio due to the effects of winter killing.

Camp Sherman Vocational school at Chillicothe will not be abolished after all. The Veterans' bureau at Washington overruled the disabled veterans of the World war, which is the organization that has been demanding the abolishment of the school.

The action of the bureau in deciding to continue the school was a surprise to the disabled veterans' organization. C. W. Clark, chief of the rehabilitation division of the Veterans' bureau, went to Washington for a consultation with General Frank T. Hines, director of the bureau, and it was decided that the institution established by the former director, Colonel Charles R. Forbes, shall not be wiped out of existence. It was announced, however, that steps will be taken at once to correct certain conditions at the school, which have been the subject of complaint.

It is reported in political circles that Ed. M. Martin of Woodfield will be appointed as Senator Fess' secretary, but the report has no official confirmation. It is thought Senator Fess will not announce his new secretary before October. Mr. Martin is now the journal clerk of the national house of representatives. He went to Washington a good many years ago as private secretary of the late Representative Mooney.

The federal civil service commission has given out the names of those who took the examination for appointment as postmaster of Lancaster. It will be several weeks before the papers are graded. The candidates who entered the contest are Charles E. Rubble, Michael Effinger, Ralph R. McCracken, Edward W. Boerstler and Thurman P. Courtwright. McCracken seems to have the lead in the matter of endorsements. Courtwright is the present postmaster.

Youngstown firm has been awarded a contract for 78 houses in Sebring to be built this summer.

OUR READERS

Science And Religion Editor of The News:

It is very unfortunate that there is so much controversy over the subject of the supposed contradiction between science and religion. Many addresses at the closing of educational institutes refer to this controversy which greatly disturbs people who have no opportunity to investigate into this subject and which is worse adds fuel to the social unrest and rebellious spirit that is destroying much of the idealism necessary to make our nation great.

A fine article in the "Christian Work," of June 9, will be appreciated. It says:

"A statement holding that there is no antagonism between science and religion has been issued as representative of the conclusions of a group of 49 distinguished Americans on a subject which recently has aroused a bitter and widespread controversy. It was prepared by Dr. R. A. Milliken, director of the Norman Bridge Laboratory of Physics at Pasadena, California. 'The purpose,' said an accompanying explanation, 'is to assist in correcting two erroneous impressions that seem to be current among certain groups of persons. The first is that religion today stands for medieval theology, the second that science is materialistic itself reads: 'We, the undersigned, deeply regret that in recent controversies there has been a tendency to present science and religion as irreconcilable and antagonistic domains of thought, for, in fact, they meet distinct human needs, and in the rounding out of human life they supplement rather than displace or oppose each other. The purpose of science is to develop, without prejudice or preconception of any kind a knowledge of the facts, the laws and the processes of nature. The even more important task of religion, on the other hand, is to develop the consciences, the ideals and the aspirations of mankind. Each of these two activities represents a deep and vital function of the soul of man, and both are necessary for the life, the progress and the happiness of the human race.'"

MRS. G. W. HALL SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio.—"Indeed, your medicine is all you say it is! I had very severe troubles such as women often have, and could do no heavy work. I was sick for several years, and from reading your ads. I finally decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now doing my own washing, which I haven't done for several years, and can walk long distances without those dragging pains and weak feelings. The Vegetable Compound is fine, and I never forget to say a good word for it to other women when they say they need something."—Mrs. G. W. HALL, 639 Hazel Avenue, Lima, Ohio.

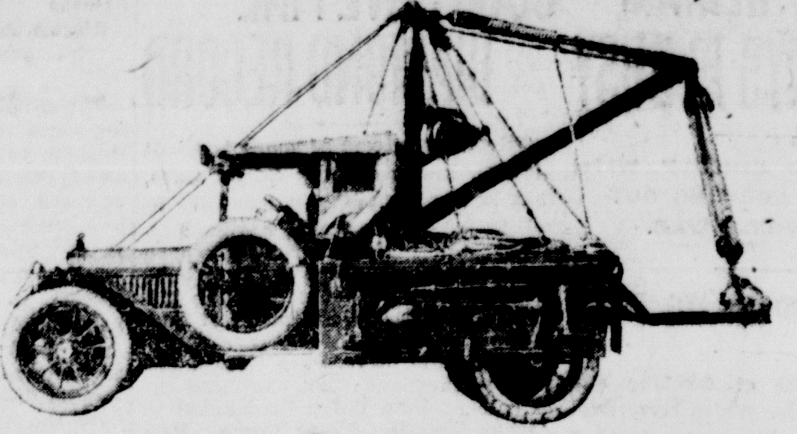

There are many women who find their household duties almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Hall's experience is but one of many.

ENMITY SEEN BY DONAHEY

Exonerates the Mayor of Niles
After a Hearing.

VOGT CASE IN THE COURTS

Outcome May Put an End to Complaints and Actions Before the Governor—Attorney General Crabbe Files a Protest With Donahey—Tip to Young People Contemplating Marriage—Other State Affairs.

Columbus, June 19.—Following a hearing Governor Donahey announced the exoneration of Mayor Charles Crow of Niles, who had been charged with having failed to enforce the law. Filing of affidavits against Crow, Donahey said, appear to have been the result of "personal animus and enmity" toward his administration. The faction responsible for the accusations against Crow, the governor added, should have co-operated with Crow and aided in obtaining law enforcement, instead of complaining to the governor.

The governor said he believed, however, that the Niles chief of police could show "greater zeal" in law enforcement. Crow, the governor added, should give the chief specific instructions and remove him if he does not "show greater zeal."

Crow was fourth Ohio mayor to get such a summons, the others being Mayors Fair of New Philadelphia, Grall of Lorain and Vogt of Massillon. In addition, Mayor Post of Salem was told to discharge his police chief. This was done, but the chief subsequently regained his job after appeal to the civil service commission.

Mayor Vogt was suspended, given a trial and removed by the governor, and now has suit pending decision in supreme court, contesting Donahey's power to oust him. If the supreme court holds that the governor was without authority to act, there will be an end to the complaints and actions before Donahey. The only remedy protesting citizens will have then will be to bring action in court, as provided by law, through petitions and bring their mayors to trial there.

In the Vogt case, constitutionality of the law under which Donahey removed the Massillon mayor was attacked on the ground that it did not provide for legal hearing. Should the court, however, uphold the legality of Donahey's action in removing Vogt, it is expected that the governor will be swamped by complaints against mayors from all over the state.

In a letter to Governor Donahey, Attorney General Crabbe registers a protest against permitting "parlor pirates" to escape prosecution on condition that they return money obtained by fraud.

The letter resulted from a story that Governor Donahey will refuse a requisition from Pennsylvania for C. A. Kirshner, Cleveland stock salesman, wanted there on a charge of fraudulently converting $1050 of stock belonging to an aged woman of Erie, Pa., to his own use. Refusal of the requisition, it was stated, was to be conditioned on Kirshner's return of the stock or its equivalent to the owner. Attorney General Crabbe urged Governor Donahey to allow the requisition, stating that he has been in communication with the Erie district attorney, who stated that Kirshner is charged with a number of such offenses. "If the state of Ohio is to throw the arm of protection around men of this character, it will tend to make the state the rendezvous of a most dangerous element," said Crabbe. "The people of Ohio can well afford to refund to the Pennsylvania woman the amount she lost rather than permit the defrauder to become a citizen of Ohio and ply his trade in this state."

At the governor's office it was said that the Kirshner case has not been disposed of and that the requisition has not been denied as yet.

A controversy between state officials and Ohio millers and dealers has been settled, it was announced at the governor's office, and as a result an agreement covering the kind of wheat from which flour for state institutions is made has been attained. Under this agreement the state purchasing agent will purchase not to exceed 20 per cent of hard winter or spring wheat flour and not less than 80 per cent of the total purchases to be soft winter wheat flour, it is indicated.

According to a report submitted by State Purchasing Agent J. P. Brennan, heads of state institutions have been objecting vigorously to brands of flour furnished state wards by the former administration. It is indicated that Brennan's predecessor purchased soft winter wheat flour only, allegedly at the instance of Governor Davis.

Department and institutional heads and representatives of the Ohio Millers' association were called into conference by Governor Donahey and the agreement cited above was reached.

Four pickpockets were witnesses in a Louisville murder case recently. After the trial the prosecutor's $600 overcoat was missing.

ed, to the satisfaction of all concerned, the Brennan report declares. It says: "The institutional heads report the mixing of one barrel of hard winter or spring wheat flour with five barrels of soft winter wheat flour for bread-baking purposes produces a good quality and satisfactory loaf of bread. They are pleased with the outcome of the controversy."

Appointment of John B. Youngblood of Columbus, consulting engineer of the state department of public welfare, to the chairmanship of the new state prison board, was announced by Governor Donahey. Mr. Youngblood is a Democrat and succeeds E. C. Shaw of Akron, Republican. At the same time the governor named Price Russell secretary of the commission, in compliance with custom, under which the executive secretary is the office of the governor occupies that post. Mr. Russell succeeds William S. Bundy, Republican, now a member of the state civil service commission. Other members of the new board are: H. S. Riddle, Columbus, and George L. Williams, Cleveland, Republican, and Ross F. Walker, Akron, Democrat.

The commission approved Governor Donahey's plans for immediate resumption of work on the administration building at the London prison farm. Following an inspection of the stone quarry north of the state hospital here, the commission approved Welfare Director John E. Harper's plan to increase the capacity of the plant, which manufactures crushed stone for state road work. The force of penitentiary prisoners employed at the quarry will be increased from 25 to about 100.

Under the McCoy act, passed by the recent general assembly and effective July 18, Ohio girls between 18 and 21 years of age who are contemplating marriage with some one whom their parents don't approve, will find the course of true love not so smooth as at the present time. After July 18, they will have to have the consent of both parents before they will be able legally to marry. If they haven't reached 21, present law permits a girl of 18 to marry without the consent of her parents. A man has to be 21 before he can do so. By the McCoy act the age is made 21 for both sexes.

Change is also made in the present law in that under the McCoy act the consent of both parents is required. The law now specifies that males under 21 and females under 18 must have the consent of their fathers, or, in case of the death of the father, that of the mother or guardian. The McCoy act leaves the marriageable ages unchanged, 18 for males and 16 for women. As originally introduced the age was made 18 for both sexes, but the bill was amended before enactment.

In the event that the Republican nomination is tendered him without solicitation, Representative Theodore E. Burton of Cleveland will consent to make the race for the governorship of Ohio next year. From Washington comes the intelligence that Burton will lead the hosts of Republicans in the Ohio battle next year, if the hosts desire to be led by him. But on this latter point there must be no mistake, his friends say. He will not enter into a scramble for the nomination. In fact, he will not be a candidate for the nomination at all. But if the nomination comes to him he will accept it and will retire from congress in order to put up the very best fight he is capable of making.

Those who are proposing Burton as the party's candidate next year argue that, at the best, it is not going to be an easy matter to prevent Ohio from slipping into the Democratic column in 1924. The importance of having a strong candidate for governor to assist in holding the electoral vote of the state for President Harding also is stressed and it is asserted that Harding and Burton would make a strong combination in Ohio.

Some of the Burton boosters are talking of sending a delegation to him to try to secure from him a pledge that he will be a candidate.

..... Daniel J. Ryan, who died at his home in Columbus in his 69th year, served in the sixty-sixth and sixty-seventh general assemblies, and later was elected secretary of state. He was the first president of the Ohio Republican league. Mr. Ryan was born in Cincinnati and educated in the common and high schools of Portsmouth. He studied law later on and was admitted to the bar in 1877. He married Myra L. Kerr of Delaware, O., in 1884. During his early life in Portsmouth he served two terms as city solicitor. Mr. Ryan was a lawyer, author and historian of note.

..... Governor Donahey will have more good jobs to fill at his disposal next month than he has had so far during his term. Highway Director Herrick's term expires June 30. When he leaves, the administration is expected to make a pretty clean sweep of all the jobs that are under civil service.

..... Former Highway Commissioner A. R. Taylor, road chief under Governor Cox, and said to be "Bill" Durbin's choice to succeed Herrick, visits Donahey this week. But the dope still is that Paul R. Murray, New Philadelphia engineer and old friend of Donahey, has the inside track for Director's job.

BANKERS CAUTION AGAINST INFLATION

By J. H. PUELICHER
President the American Bankers Association

A recent meeting of the Executive Council of the American Bankers Association, attended as it was by representative bankers from every state in the Union, afforded an excellent opportunity to get a composite view of the business situation in the nation as a whole. Representatives of agriculture were present at the meeting. They made it clear that the upward trend of affairs in business had not yet reached the farmer and that his position of having to pay a relatively larger price for what he purchases as compared with that received for what he sells should be given the most thoughtful consideration.

There were also present men fresh from observing and studying conditions in Europe. While they lent encouragement to the belief that European affairs are slowly—very slowly—righting themselves, there is in the feeling generally expressed by American bankers a distinct note of caution.

Questions of the Hour
One hears the questions everywhere asked: "Are we going to permit American affairs to ride again into a situation of extreme inflation, which will, as we all know, be followed by another period of depression? Had we not better keep business on a normal keel by not going too rapidly? Should not the banker be sounding a note of warning to business men generally to keep their affairs well in hand?"

The charts indicating the trend of business show that we are approaching the high point which followed the war. This should be the signal to the conservative business man that expansion must be definitely controlled and that reasonable conservatism should be the order of the day.

To many this may appear the pessimism of the banker, but let me say that the banker is in a position to keep his finger on the pulse of our economic situation, and when there is such a consensus on the part of many bankers that we are passing the safety point and that we are riding into another period of inflation such opinion should not be looked upon as pessimism, but rather as the advice of those whose business can prosper only as there is general prosperity.

The banking situation in America is sound and can only be harmed by undue credit expansion. The banker should see that expansion does not again gain the headway that led us into trouble before, and the business man should do everything possible to support the banker, thus avoiding another period of costly deflation.

Socialism's Worst Blow

One of the most remarkable instances in history of the abandonment of a great belief is presented by Premier Mussolini of Italy. Formerly a rabid Socialist, he is now, with the responsibilities of state, so thoroughly converted to sound business principles that he speaks of the present order under "the glorious name of capitalism." Mussolini, who in many ways represents the hardest blow Socialism has received, recently said:

"It is my conviction that the state must renounce its economic functions, especially those of monopolistic character—that a government which wants quickly to uplift its own people must give free play to private enterprise and forego any measure of state control or state paternalism which may satisfy demagogues, but, as shown by experience, will turn out to be absolutely fatal to the interests and economic development of a country. I do not believe that that complex of forces which in industry, agriculture, commerce, banking and transport, may be called with the glorious name of capitalism, is about to end, as for a length of time it was thought it would by several thinkers of social extremism. One of the greatest historical experiences which has unfolded itself under our own eyes has clearly demonstrated that all systems of associated economy which avoid free initiative and individual impulse, fall more or less pitifully in a short lapse of time."

as the wick to a candle

Everyone knows that the wick of a candle must go clear through to the bottom, or else part of the candle will remain unburned. A complete chain of boiling points is the wick in good gasoline that burns up all the fuel and allows it to give maximum power. To perform efficiently and economically, gasoline must have a low initial boiling point. This makes it vaporize readily — start the motor quickly. It must also have a connecting series of gradually rising boiling points to provide smooth, fast acceleration. And it must have the proper body of higher boiling points to give the heat that means full power and big mileage.

The Importance of Good Telephone Habits

If there is any one thing that reflects the spirit of an organization more than another, it is the service one gets over the telephone.

Your telephone habits determine the benefits you receive from the service to a greater extent than perhaps you realize.

When you crowd your words; when you let your voice fade toward the end of a sentence; when you hold the instrument too far from your lips; when you call a person and then make him wait until you are ready to talk — you do not get the results you secure by the practice of good telephone habits. You make a less favorable impression; you lose good will; and sometimes actual business.

Being a cooperative product, telephone service is at its best only when every person who has anything to do with making and using a connection does that part properly.

Every telephone call should be regarded in the same light that one regards a caller at the office or home in person.

The proper use of the telephone by everyone will make the service of greater value to all.

JAPANESE ARE GOOD FLYERS

Head of British Air Mission Is of Opinion That They Positively Have No Nerves.

A rather curious report current two or three years ago with reference to Japanese aviation is recalled by an interview in London with the Master of Sempill, who has just returned after spending many months as head of the British air mission to Japan. The suggestion was that Japanese could not be made into good airmen because of something in their early upbringing, one point being that because they were carried pick-a-back in infancy they had somehow lost their sense of equilibrium. In support of this it was pointed out that many accidents had happened in Japan, and even today it is conceded that they have produced no outstanding flyers.

The statement, however, that they do not make good airmen is disproved by the Master of Sempill, who describes them as pupils leaving little to be desired and the standard achieved by pilots throughout the naval air force as being very high. In fact, one report of the interview credits him with the statement that it is higher than in the British naval air force. The Japanese are said to be ready to try anything and to have no trace of nerves. All this makes a very different story from that which became common property shortly after the armistice, and there seems now no doubt that hypothesis outran facts.—North China Herald.

AUTO USED TO EXERCISE DOG

At Least One Animal of High Estate Got Real Outing, Though in Novel Manner.

The other morning the man who loves dogs was walking down Fifth avenue at the hour when the servants of the rich take out on leashes for their matutinal promenade the pampered members of dogdom, the New York Sun states.

"Poor brutes," he said to a friend. "A life of ease and luxury is theirs and there's not one of 'em wouldn't change with the raggedest cur in Christendom if he could roam unrestrained through country fields. Why, none of those rich dogs ever gets decent exercise. A big chap like that fellow (pointing to a police dog) should be given a chance to run."

And then round the corner appeared a limousine the owner of which evidently was a real dog lover. He had solved the problem of giving his dog a run every day. The chauffeur had one hand on the wheel, the other held a long leash to which was attached the owner's dog, contentedly running along side at about eight miles an hour.

The New Psychology.
So long as all kinds of wrong conduct, or even wrong belief, were held to be the expression of an evil will subject to no causes outside itself, there was no way of dealing with them except by punishment, which was usually itself a mechanical reaction and blind in its effects.

But, as soon as wrong conduct and wrong belief were seen to have causes that could be discovered, their causes were sought and sometimes found, with the result that

The new psychology, based on the assumption, confirmed by experience, that all causes for all error and evil are in the mind; and its great discovery is that the mind, when aware of these causes, will, with the whole of itself, resist and often overcome them.—Arthur Clutton-Brock in the Atlantic Monthly.

Militarism in Miniature.
It would be ungratifying to charge the grand duchess of Luxembourg with militaristic designs against the peace of the world. Yet it is a fact that she has enormously increased the size of her army by no less than 100 per cent—from 250 to 500 men.

However, before this enlargement hers was not the smallest in European armies on record. The prince of Lichtenstein in 1895 placed his entire army at the command of his ally, the emperor of Austria. It consisted of seven men and a drummer. Nevertheless the prince was a great warrior. He organized in his capital a war museum, the principal piece a pair of gloves which had belonged to Napoleon, all black from the smoke of battle. Unfortunately the princess had them cleaned!

Baseball Follows the Flag.
Baseball follows the flag. Wherever the United States marines have been stationed abroad the lure of the American national game has spread like wildfire.

In China, the Philippines, the West Indies, and elsewhere native teams have been organized. Some of them play remarkably. The Filipinos are experts. The Chinese and Japanese play the game well up to professional standards, and the natives of Nicaragua threw their national pastime of cockfighting into the shade after they saw the game played by United States marines who had been sent to that country in 1912 to suppress revolution.

April Showers.
April's jewel is the rain, which is the emblem of success, and if worn when going to some important appointment it will bring you luck. The lucky flower for April is the primrose, and, whether natural or artificial, brings luck to those born in this month. April is a lucky month for marriages, but those no longer young should choose another month, for April brings luck to young people's weddings only.

COURT NEWS

County Wins Case

Testimony for the prosecution was completed in the action of James Starkey, of Salineville, against the county commissioners when court adjourned Monday afternoon and the defense had opened its case.

Starkey owned six acres of land lying along a county road in Salineville which was graded and improved by the commissioners. Starkey claims that the change in the grade ruined his truck patch and has damaged the sale of three building lots along the county road.

The county commissioners are trying to show that the improved road was a benefit to the land. Witnesses testified that before the improvement was put in by the commissioners the land was worth about $700 and now they claim that $50 is the best price that could be got for it. Following the completion of the case the court directed the jury to find a verdict in favor of the commissioners.

Deed To Be Reworded

Adeline Morrow and C. B. Trunick, heirs of John and Nancy Trunick, deceased, have filed an action in common pleas court against Hattie L. Mardis and others asking that a certain deed for the property known as lot 57, in Graham's addition to Lisbon, be reformed to more nearly conform to the actual description of the property.

Judgment of $47 Appealed

The case of J. C. Lutton vs Henry and Arthur Cooper of East Liverpool, has been appealed to common pleas court from the court of Justice P. V. Mackall. The plaintiff in the action was granted a judgment of $47 against the defendants, who are not satisfied with this verdict, and have appealed the same to the higher court. The papers were filed Monday morning.
